

Application to take courses during the transition to an MSc programme

If you lack 25 ECTS or less in your BEng or BSc programme, you can apply to take courses that will subsequently be part of your MSc programme at DTU and cannot be included as part of your current programme.

How to apply

You must complete this form and send it from your student email to the master's admissions office at kandidatopt@adm.dtu.dk.

How we process your application

The master's admissions office will assess whether you meet the admission requirements for the desired master's programme. If you do, they will forward your application to the Study Administration, which will process your application and send you a response. If your application is approved, the Study Administration will enrol you in the MSc courses. You do not need to register for them yourself. Your application will be processed following the rules for "Transferring to an MSc programme," which you can find on Student.dtu.dk → Study Rules → Transferring to an MSc programme.

By submitting this form, you confirm that you have familiarized yourself with the rules.
